RunnerKarel

Karel will run a marathon and he is training. In this exercise, your mission is to write a program that makes Karel run five laps around beepers. When Karel turns around the beepers and comes to the starting point it is counted as one lap. The world for this exercise is shown below: